REZOLUTE, INC.

Rezolute is a clinical stage biotechnology company developing transformative therapies targeting rare and metabolic diseases.

Our Pipeline

Program	Description	Preclinical	Phase 1	Phase 2
RZ358	Antibody for CHI	Phase 2b dosing anticipated 2H'19
RZ402	Oral PKI for DME	IND anticipated mid-year '20
AB101	Weekly insulin	Top-line results anticipated 2H'19

RZ358

Congenital Hyperinsulinism ("CHI") is a rare genetic disorder that affects 1 in 50,000 to 1 in 30,000 newborns. In areas of high consanguinity, the incidence may increase to 1 in 2,500 newborns.

CHI can be caused by one of more than ten known genetic mutations. These mutations may occur within the beta cells of the pancreas and lead to excessive insulin secretion. The most common mutations occur at the ABCC8 and KCNJ11 genes that encode the SUR-1 and Kir6.2 subunits of the KATP channel.

Ordinarily, beta cells in the pancreas secrete just enough insulin to keep blood sugar in the normal range. With CHI, the secretion of insulin is not properly regulated. The beta cells secrete too much insulin. This results in excessively low blood sugar or severe hypoglycemia.

CHI is the most common cause of persistent hypoglycemia in infants and children. Persistent hypoglycemia increases risks of long-term neurologic complications. Episodes are characterized by lethargy, irritability, and / or difficulty feeding. Repeated episodes of hypoglycemia increase the risk of serious complications such as breathing difficulties, developmental delays, intellectual disability, vision loss, brain damage, seizures, coma, and possibly death.

We believe that existing management options are suboptimal. To start, no medical therapy has been developed and approved for CHI. To avoid hypoglycemia, many children require frequent glucose monitoring and feeding, including intravenous or intestinal administration of sugar solutions, particularly overnight. Due to genetics or other factors, medical therapies currently used in practice do not adequately treat a significant number of children and / or have side effects not well tolerated. Surgical removal of all or part of the pancreas may be an option, but is invasive and often diabetes-inducing. All in all, current treatment regimens are often ineffective, burdensome, and / or have a substantially negative effect on the quality of life for these children and their families.

We believe that RZ358 is a first-in-class, fully human, monoclonal antibody that has been specifically designed to treat all forms of CHI, as well as potentially other indications. The unique, reversible mechanism of action of RZ358 binds with high affinity to the insulin receptor at an allosteric site with no IGF-1 interaction. In the setting of elevated insulin, RZ358 dims the insulin signal, while still allowing insulin to bind and signal. This occurs downstream from the beta-cells, where genetic mutations leading to hyperinsulinism occur. RZ358 was designed as a universal treatment for all forms of CHI.

To date RZ358 has been studied in Phase 1 and Phase 2 clinical studies that have included children as well as adults.

Rezolute is currently launching a Phase 2b study in CHI and we anticipate dosing the first patient in 2019.

RZ358 has designated orphan status in the US and EU.

RZ402

Diabetic Macular Edema (“DME”) is one of the main causes of vision loss in working-age adults globally. With the growth of diabetes, prevalence in the US is estimated to increase beyond the current estimate of 750,000 individuals.

DME is a metabolic disease that results from an increase in retinal vascular permeability (“RVP”) in the setting of diabetic retinopathy (abnormal retinal blood vessel growth caused by poorly controlled blood sugar levels). Vascular leakage from retinal blood vessels leads to swelling of the retina, including the macula, an area of the retina that is very important for vision. The kinin system and the production of bradykinin have been implicated in the vascular leakage associated with DME.

While the market is very large, current treatment approaches are onerous. They involve injections into the eye by retinal specialists on a monthly or bimonthly basis. In addition to a segment of the DME population that does not respond to these treatments, the extent of therapeutic benefit directly correlates with adherence to this route of administration. As the regimen is a significant burden for both patients and their healthcare providers, high rates of non-adherence and ultimately, suboptimal therapeutic outcomes exist.

RZ402 is a potential new therapy for DME. RZ402 has been shown to normalize RVP in clinically-relevant animal models of macular edema as effectively as the current injectable treatments with exposure-response studies supporting once daily dosing.

Rezolute plans to file an IND for RZ402 in mid 2020.

AB101

Exogenous basal insulin is a multi-billion dollar market dominated by therapies where the standard of care is daily injections.

AB101 is an extended release microsphere formulation of PEGylated human recombinant insulin. It is being developed as a once-weekly subcutaneous injection, for use alone and in combination with bolus prandial insulin or oral glucose lowering therapies, to improve glycemic control in patients with Type 1 and Type 2 Diabetes Mellitus. We believe AB101 has the potential to provide a near peak-less, slow and uniform release of basal insulin.

Rezolute is currently conducting a Phase 1 study in Type 1 Diabetes Mellitus and anticipates top line results later this year. Following analyses of this data, we will evaluate out-licensing potential.

We are registering the shares of common stock in order to permit the Selling Stockholders to offer the shares of common stock for resale from time to time. The registration of such common stock does not necessarily mean, however, that any of the shares of common stock will be offered or sold by the Selling Stockholders. We will not receive any proceeds from the sale of the common stock by the Selling Stockholders, and we have borne and will continue to bear the costs relating to the registration of these shares of common stock, other than commissions and discounts of agents or broker-dealers and transfer taxes, if any.

Except as disclosed in the footnotes below, no Selling Stockholders had a material relationship with the Company or any of its affiliates within the last three years.

The following table and the accompanying footnotes are based in part on information supplied to us by the Selling Stockholders. The table and footnotes assume that the Selling Stockholders will sell all of the shares listed. However, because the Selling Stockholders may sell none of their shares or some of their shares under this prospectus from time to time, or in another permitted manner, we cannot assure you as to the actual number of shares that will be sold by the Selling Stockholders or that will be held by the Selling Stockholders after completion of any sales. We do not know how long the Selling Stockholders will hold the shares before selling them.

Beneficial ownership has been determined under rules promulgated by the SEC. The information does not necessarily indicate beneficial ownership for any other purpose. Under the rules of the SEC, a person is deemed to be a "beneficial owner" of a security if that person has or shares "voting power," which includes the power to vote or to direct the voting of such security, or "investment power," which includes the power to dispose of or to direct the disposition of such security. Shares of common stock subject to options currently exercisable and convertible securities currently convertible, or exercisable or convertible within 60 days after the date of this prospectus, are deemed outstanding for purposes of computing the percentage beneficially owned by the person or entity holding such securities but are not deemed outstanding for purposes of computing the percentage beneficially owned by any other person or entity. The inclusion of any shares in this table does not constitute an admission of beneficial ownership by the persons named below. Please carefully read the footnotes located below the table in conjunction with the information presented in the table.

These dispositions may be at fixed prices, at prevailing market prices at the time of sale, at prices related to the prevailing market price, at varying prices determined at the time of sale, or at negotiated prices.

The Selling Stockholders may use any one or more of the following methods when disposing of shares or interests therein:

- ordinary brokerage transactions and transactions in which the broker-dealer solicits purchasers;

- purchases by a broker-dealer as principal and resale by the broker-dealer for its account;
- an exchange distribution in accordance with the rules of the applicable exchange;

The Selling Stockholders may, from time to time, pledge or grant a security interest in some or all of the shares of common stock owned by them and, if they default in the performance of their secured obligations, the pledgees or secured parties may offer and sell the shares of common stock, from time to time, under this prospectus, or under an amendment to this prospectus under Rule 424(b)(3) or other applicable provision of the Securities Act amending the list of Selling Stockholders to include the pledgee, transferee or other successors in interest as Selling Stockholders under this prospectus. The Selling Stockholders also may transfer the shares of common stock in other circumstances, in which case the transferees, pledgees or other successors in interest will be the selling beneficial owners for purposes of this prospectus.

In connection with the sale of our common stock or interests therein, the Selling Stockholders may enter into hedging transactions with broker-dealers or other financial institutions, which may in turn engage in short sales of the common stock in the course of hedging the positions they assume. The Selling Stockholders may also sell shares of our common stock short and deliver these securities to close out their short positions, or loan or pledge the common stock to broker-dealers that in turn may sell these securities. The Selling Stockholders may also enter into option or other transactions with broker-dealers or other financial institutions or the creation of one or more derivative securities which require the delivery to such broker-dealer or other financial institution of shares offered by this prospectus, which shares such broker-dealer or other financial institution may resell pursuant to this prospectus (as supplemented or amended to reflect such transaction).

We will pay any selling expenses incurred by the selling stockholders. Furthermore, we agree to indemnify and hold harmless Xoma Corporation as to any claims arising under this prospectus or the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part.

The aggregate proceeds to the Selling Stockholders from the sale of the common stock offered by them will be the purchase price of the common stock less discounts or commissions, if any. Each of the Selling Stockholders reserves the right to accept and, together with their agents from time to time, to reject, in whole or in part, any proposed purchase of common stock to be made directly or through agents. We will not receive any of the proceeds from this offering.

The Selling Stockholders also may resell all or a portion of the shares in open market transactions in reliance upon Rule 144 under the Securities Act, provided that they meet the criteria and conform to the requirements of that rule.

Any discounts, commissions, concessions or profit they earn on any resale of the shares may be underwriting discounts and commissions under the Securities Act. Selling stockholders who are “underwriters” within the meaning of Section 2(11) of the Securities Act will be subject to the prospectus delivery requirements of the Securities Act.

To the extent required, the shares of our common stock to be sold, the names of the Selling Stockholders, the respective purchase prices and public offering prices, the names of any agents, dealer or underwriter, any applicable commissions or discounts with respect to a particular offer will be set forth in an accompanying prospectus supplement or, if appropriate, a post-effective amendment to the registration statement that includes this prospectus.

In order to comply with the securities laws of some states, if applicable, the common stock may be sold in these jurisdictions only through registered or licensed brokers or dealers. In addition, in some states the common stock may not be sold unless it has been registered or qualified for sale or an exemption from registration or qualification requirements is available and is complied with.

We have advised the Selling Stockholders that the anti-manipulation rules of Regulation M under the Exchange Act may apply to sales of shares in the market and to the activities of the Selling Stockholders and their affiliates. In addition, to the extent applicable we will make copies of this prospectus (as it may be supplemented or amended from time to time) available to the Selling Stockholders for the purpose of satisfying the prospectus delivery requirements of the Securities Act.
